FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Crossroads Systems CEO to Speak at 2010 LinkUp Conference

Austin, Texas – October 12, 2010 – Crossroads Systems, Inc. (symbol: CRDS), a global provider of solutions to connect, protect, secure and restore data, today announced that President and CEO Rob Sims will present two sessions at Link Computer Corporation's 2010 LinkUp conference and exhibition at the Blair Convention Center in Altoona, Pennsylvania on Wednesday, October 13.

Hosted by Link Computer Corporation, a Crossroads partner, the LinkUp event provides attendees with significant business value, offering a venue to meet with leading vendors, see the latest technology solutions, and discover the benefits of integrated virtualization and data storage solutions.

From 8 to 9 a.m., Sims will present "Planning for the Unplanned Disaster," where he will discuss key disaster planning requirements, pinpoint how to overcome potential issues, and highlight the benefits of cost-effective disaster recovery solutions.

Additionally, from 1 to 2 p.m. Sims will present "So You Want Cloud Storage." In this session, Sims will help attendees uncover the important items to consider when identifying potential pitfalls and opportunities for organizations.
