FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Crossroads Systems Chief of Information Strategy and Security to Speak at Technosium 2010

*Crossroads a Finalist for Hot Companies of 2010 Award
Anyck Turgeon a Finalist for Most Valuable Performers Award*

Austin, Texas – March 17, 2010 – Crossroads Systems, Inc. (symbol: CRDS), a global provider of solutions to connect, protect, secure and restore data, today announced that Anyck Turgeon, Chief of Information Strategy and Security, is scheduled to speak at the 2010 Technosium on Thursday, March 18, 2010 at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, California.

As Crossroads is a finalist for Technosium's Hot Companies of 2010 Award, Turgeon will present a corporate presentation and invite all attendees to evaluate Crossroads' latest solutions and partnership opportunities. Additionally, as a finalist herself for the event's Most Valuable Performers Award, Turgeon will host Technosium's distinguished CSO panel that will discuss a number of topics including:

- The latest challenges surrounding cloud computing and virtualization security
- New preparedness programs for the next wave of IT security employees
- Communications and reporting tools for communicating with board members and other executives
- Netbook and thin provisioning security concerns
- Vendor assurance programs
- The latest data storage protection trends in data retention and recovery

"It is an honor for Crossroads to be recognized at Technosium 2010 as a leading data security, privacy and protection company in the industry," said Anyck Turgeon, Chief of Information Strategy and Security. "As companies are trying to optimize the use of their current IT infrastructure, gain more reporting transparency, and ensure the reliability of recovered data, Crossroads offers uniquely powerful, cost-efficient solutions. It is a pleasure to have the opportunity to highlight Crossroads and its solutions at Technosium."

Technosium Executive Alliance Forums bring industry vendors and end users together through interactive meetings. Technosium has received support in past events from numerous associations and industry leaders. For more information on Technosium 2010, visit www.technosium.com.
